

BELL PHONE CO. CREATES NEW DIST. IN AREA

Change Made Necessary Due to Growth in Bucks and Montgomery

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania has created a new district in the Lower Bucks and Eastern Montgomery counties section, it was announced today. The change was made necessary by the tremendous telephone growth in this area in recent years, plus the growth anticipated in the near future because of the construction of the new U. S. Steel plant in Falls Township and neighboring housing developments.

Under the new arrangement, effective September 1, William M. Houldin, district manager, will continue in the same position here. A new district manager is being appointed in Norristown, who will be in charge of the western section of Montgomery County. Houldin, whose office was formerly in Norristown, will now make his headquarters in Jenkintown.

Frank J. Moses, former district plant superintendent in Altoona, has been named to the same post here, while Richard D. Bishop, district traffic superintendent in North Philadelphia, will become district traffic superintendent here.

Houldin said the new appointments will make possible closer supervision of the rapidly growing telephone system in this territory and should result in quicker and better service.

William J. Wohlhagen will continue as local manager, with headquarters in Bristol.

Phila. Electric Makes Colored Movies of Area

Monday moving pictures were made in the Levittown area.

The movies—in technicolor—will be shown to stockholders of Philadelphia Electric Company during their annual meeting next April.

Harold Ekvall, senior engineer of the Transmission and Distribution Section of the company stated that the film will be "a record of the company's activities in the area and of its—the company's—participation in the community's growth."

Pictures in full color will be taken of the company's facilities not only in the Levittown area, but will also be taken of the Emily substation facilities, and distribution centers in the whole rapidly expanding Bucks County Area.

This will give company stockholders an "over-all view" of activity in the area, said Ekvall.

Mathews added that this move will also apply to the Field Accounting Service of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Employment Security.

GIVE QUALIFICATIONS, HOSPITAL NOMINEES

Board of Directors To Be Chosen On The Second Of September

AT PENNSBURY HIGH

The responsibility of writing this news release has been placed in the hands of Warren A. Jennings, public relations vice-chairman in charge of publicity. The customary collaboration of Mrs. Reba C. Goebig, committee chairman, has been foregone for this one publication. This is the last official news release before the September 2nd meeting, called for in the by-laws to elect the hospital board of directors. Mr. Jennings has been requested to give a brief outline of the nominees with regard to their activities concerning the Lower Bucks County Hospital.

The September 2nd meeting has been scheduled for the Pennsbury high school on Yardley road off Lincoln highway, at eight p. m. Those desiring to vote must be present to obtain an official ballot. The ballots are self-explanatory. There is the designated choice to vote for nominees for one, two, or three year terms.

Although not complete in many cases, the thumb-nail sketch on the designated nominees is as follows:

William Anderson, Kings Farms, Morrisville, present president Morrisville borough council, past president Lions Club, community chairman for Morrisville-Falls township area during fund raising campaign, present vice-chairman of the hospital Public Relations Committee in charge of speakers bureau.

Albert J. Berdis, Fairless Works, Fairless Hills, general supt.; Fairless Steel Plant, member of the executive committee, represents Fairless Hills on the public relations

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR MAN WANTED

Suspect Allegedly Assaulted A Baby Sitter At Sellersville Home

GIVE A DESCRIPTION

QUAKERTOWN, Aug. 28—Search continues for a man who allegedly criminally assaulted a Sellersville baby-sitter after gaining admittance to the home by posing as a health inspector. Sgt. John I. Swann of State Police asks the cooperation of the public.

"The man was about 30 or 32 years old and was five feet 10 or 11 inches tall," said Sgt. Swann. He looks like a football player, wore a light brown suit with a thin line or check design. He carries a shiny, light brown brief case which has a zipper on it.

He has dark hair, combed straight back, receding forehead, and brown eyes. He has a dark-tan complexion.

He was driving a dark green 1951 or 1952 Hudson sedan.

Last Tuesday, Aug. 19, he molested three children in a Sellersville home by posing as a health inspector.

He repeats the last two words of the sentence such as "Good teeth," or "good eyes" while making the fake examination on the child.

"Anyone having any knowledge of this man or who thinks they have should call either Sellersville 2444 or Quakertown 125 at once," said the sergeant.

The man used a ball-point pen to fill out the "reports," his diction is good, hands well manicured and he is nicely groomed.

He entered a Sellersville home, where he assaulted a 16-year-old girl baby-sitter on the pretext that he had to make a polio examination.

Glamorous Star To Be At New Hope Playhouse

NEW HOPE, Aug. 28 — Kay Francis, glamorous star of stage and screen, will play the leading role in Somerset Maugham's sophisticated comedy "Theatre" which Theron Bamberger will present at Bucks County Playhouse for one week beginning Sept. 1st.

This will be Miss Francis' third visit to the New Hope theatre. She starred there in "Mirror, Mirror" 1st season and in 1949 was the star of "Let Us Be Gay."

Howard Bailey and Dennis Allen are featured in the cast which also includes Ronald Telfer and David Picken of the Playhouse regular company.

"Theatre" is based on a short story by Maugham, one of the foremost writers of modern times. It tells with exciting detail of Julia and Michael Gosselyn, a team of famous actors, considered by the world to be a devoted married couple. In reality, they have been divorced for many years but have carried on the hoax of conventionality for business reasons. Eventually the expected happens, and Michael finds himself involved with a wealthy woman who insists on honest wedlock, so that the truth about the Gosselyns is revealed.

The events that bring the truth into the open, and the effect it has on the lives of the people involved form the basis of a stirring and provocative comedy that has reaped praise wherever it has been presented.

In the middle ages members of royalty were looked upon somewhat as demi-gods. Nowadays, we all know that kings and queens, however royal their blood, are people. The same is true of Queen Elizabeth II of Britain, who has been at her job for several months now. This article, another in the Bristol Courier's informal reports from veteran American foreign correspondents to the people at home, gives a human insight into how young Elizabeth is doing in her queenship.

(INS Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Aug. 28 — (INS) — The British aren't calling Queen Elizabeth "good queen Bess" yet. But they rather think of her that way and may very well be doing so before very long.

Right now the British still are, in their solemn, quiet sort of way, examining the results of the first few months of her reign, which began with the death of her father, King George VI, last February. What they find satisfies them.

MYSTERY OF BONES UNEARTHED AT LEVITTOWN IS NEARING SOLUTION ACCORDING TO THE AUTHORITIES

List of Names of Three Persons Buried In The Area Is Now Being Compiled; Bones To Be Reburied In An Established Cemetery

The mystery of buried bones discovered during excavation being made in the vicinity of the Levittown housing development, is being cleared up.

Bucks County Coroner Russell J. Ferris and Deputy Coroner Dr. William Goldfarb have announced that the bones were found when workmen unknowingly came upon an unmarked and long-forgotten burial plot.

The bones, found in July, sent officials searching back through the records for possible unsolved murders in Southern Bucks county records and brought speculation on "gang killings."

The investigators found that in 1801 a burial plot had been set aside by Joseph Robinson, then owner of the tract of land on which the bones were found.

The bones were sent to Harrisburg for a check by archeologists to determine their age.

Ferris said that the archeological report confirmed the suspicion that the bones came from three different persons and set their age at more than 100 years.

A list of names of three persons who are believed to have been buried in the area has been compiled but identifying the bones would be impossible.

He said the bones will now be buried in an established cemetery. The expenses for reburial in cases of this nature are borne by the person or company who discovers the bones.

600 CHILDREN IN TW'P ON PART TIME

Estimate Is Announced By Walter Miller, Regional Superintendent

ENROLLMENT OF 1746

Six-hundred students of the Bristol township area will attend school on part time sessions. This figure represents an estimate made yesterday by Walter Miller, Regional Superintendent, when he released figures showing a total enrollment for the area of 1746 students, not including the 540 expected to enroll from Levittown.

The total registration figures represent, according to Miller approximately a 30% increase over the enrollment figure last year. The enrollment figure for last year represented an approximately 13% increase over the previous year Miller stated.

All children registering for the elementary grades will register September 4. Secondary students will register September 5. Registration for the primary grades will be at the schools designated above for the areas. Secondary registration will be at the Delhaas school.

All schools in the township including Levittown, according to Miller, will begin Monday, September 8.

Registration for the children of Levittown residents will be at the Exhibit Center on Route 13, Thursday, September 4, from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. This registration center applies to students for the elementary grades only. Secondary school students will register at Delhaas High School on the 5th.

Of the total number of 1746 students 139 will attend at Laurel Bend school; 234 at Edgely Primary; 230 at Edgely intermediate; 107 at Newportville; 300 at Maple Shade; 424 at Croynod school; Ter-cents Jr. Corps.

The delegates at the three-day conferences of fellowship, inspiration and learning will represent about 200 local Boy Scout Councils. The meeting features colorful Indian dancing, displays, demonstrations and impressive Order of the Arrow ceremonies. There will be outdoor activities and small group sessions. A huge fellowship campfire and barbecue are scheduled for Saturday evening, August 30.

Addressing the opening session Friday afternoon will be H. Lloyd Nelson of Burlington, N. J., Chairman of the National Order of the Arrow Committee; James R. Montgomery of Knoxville, Tenn., National Conference Chief and Jack Noel, Chief of the host lodge at Hamilton, Ohio. J. Richard Wilson of New York is National Secretary.

Other speakers include Robert L. Billington, Scout executive of Region 4, comprising Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia; W. H. Klusmann, national director of

GIVE QUALIFICATIONS,
HOSPITAL NOMINEESBoard of Directors To Be Chosen On The Second
Of September

AT PENNSBURY HIGH

The responsibility of writing this news release has been placed in the hands of Warren A. Jennings, public relations vice-chairman in charge of publicity. The customary collaboration of Mrs. Reba C. Goebig, committee chairman, has been foregone for this one publication. This is the last official news release before the September 2nd meeting, called for in the by-laws to elect the hospital board of directors. Mr. Jennings has been requested to give a brief outline of the nominees with regard to their activities concerning the Lower Bucks County Hospital.

The September 2nd meeting has been scheduled for the Pennsbury high school on Yardley road off Lincoln highway, at eight p. m. Those desiring to vote must be present to obtain an official ballot. The ballots are self-explanatory. There is the designated choice to vote for nominees for one, two, or three year terms.

Although not complete in many cases, the thumb-nail sketch on the designated nominees is as follows:

William Anderson, Kings Farms, Morrisville, present president Morrisville borough council, past president Lions Club, community chairman for Morrisville-Falls township area during fund raising campaign, present vice-chairman of the hospital Public Relations Committee in charge of speakers bureau.

Albert J. Berdis, Fairless Works, Fairless Hills, general supt.; Fairless Steel Plant, member of the executive committee, represents Fairless Hills on the public relations

CONTINUE SEARCH
FOR MAN WANTEDSuspect Allegedly Assaulted
A Baby Sitter At Sellersville Home

GIVE A DESCRIPTION

QUAKERTOWN, Aug. 28.—Search continues for a man who allegedly criminally assaulted a Sellersville baby-sitter after gaining admittance to the home by posing as a health inspector. Sgt. John I. Swann of State Police asks the cooperation of the public.

"The man was about 30 or 32 years old and was five feet 10 or 11 inches tall," said Sgt. Swann. He looks like a football player, wore a light brown suit with a thin line or check design. He carries a shiny, light brown brief case which has a zipper on it.

He has dark hair, combed straight back, receding forehead, and brown eyes. He has a dark-tan complexion.

He was driving a dark green 1951 or 1952 Hudson sedan.

Last Tuesday, Aug. 19, he molested three children in a Sellersville home by posing as a health inspector.

He repeats the last two words of the sentence such as "Good teeth," or "good eyes" while making the fake examination on the child.

"Anyone having any knowledge of this man or who thinks they have should call either Sellersville 2444 or Quakertown 125 at once," said the sergeant.

The man used a ball-point pen to fill out the "reports," his diction is good, hands well manicured and he is nicely groomed.

He entered a Sellersville home, where he assaulted a 16-year-old girl baby-sitter on the pretext that he had to make a polio examination.

Glamorous Star To Be
At New Hope Playhouse

NEW HOPE, Aug. 28 — Kay Francis, glamorous star of stage and screen, will play the leading role in Somerset Maugham's sophisticated comedy "Theatre" which Theron Bamberger will present at Bucks County Playhouse for one week beginning Sept. 1st.

This will be Miss Francis' third visit to the New Hope theatre. She starred there in "Mirror, Mirror" last season and in 1949 was the star of "Let Us Be Gay."

Howard Bailey and Dennis Allen are featured in the cast which also includes Ronald Telfer and David Picken of the Playhouse regular company.

"Theatre" is based on a short story by Maugham, one of the foremost writers of modern times. It tells with exciting detail of Julia and Michael Gosselyn, a team of famous actors, considered by the world to be a devoted married couple. In reality, they have been divorced for many years but have carried on the hoax of conventional life for business reasons. Eventually the expected happens, and Michael finds himself involved with a wealthy woman who insists on honest wedlock, so that the truth about the Gosselyns is revealed. The events that bring the truth into the open, and the effect it has on the lives of the people involved form the basis of a stirring and provocative comedy that has reaped praise wherever it has been presented.

"Most Terrible Ordeal"
Faces Her Next Year
In Coronation

In the middle ages members of royalty were looked upon somewhat as demi-gods. Nowadays, we all know that kings and queens, however royal their blood, are people. The same is true of Queen Elizabeth II of Britain, who has been at her job for several months now. This article, another in the Bristol Courier's informal reports from veteran American foreign correspondents to the people at home, gives a human insight into how young Elizabeth is doing in her queenship.

"MEMO FROM BRITAIN"

By Charles A. Smith

(INS Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 28 — (INS) —

The British aren't calling Queen Elizabeth "good queen Bess" yet. But they rather think of her that way and may very well be doing so before very long.

Right now the British still are, in their solemn, quiet sort of way, examining the results of the first few months of her reign, which began with the death of her father, King George VI, last February.

What they find satisfies them.

BRACKEN CADETS 2ND
IN "DREAM CONTEST"Appear At Invitation Event
Before 25,000 At Jersey
City, N. J.

ARRIVE HOME 4 A. M.

Bracken Post Jr. Drum & Bugle Corps arrived home this morning at four o'clock after garnering more honors last night in the "National Dream Contest" at Roosevelt Stadium, Jersey City, N. J., a "follow-up" of the national convention of the American Legion. In the "dream" contest, known also as the "World Series of Drum & Bugle Corps," the Bristol "Cavaliers" won second place, and came out two places ahead of St. Vincent Corps of Bayonne, N. J., which last Sunday was first in the national American Legion contest. In Sunday's event, Bracken Cadets were second.

The contest last evening, said to have been witnessed by 25,000 people, was an invitation meet, the best of the junior and senior corps being chosen to compete in their respective categories.

First place in junior corps was won by St. Joseph Cadets of Newark, N. J., which had come out fourth last Sunday. Placing third last evening was Holy Name Cadet Corps of Garfield, N. J. Eight junior corps took part.

The sponsoring unit was St. Vincent's Jr. Corps.

MYSTERY OF BONES UNEARTHED AT LEVITTOWN IS NEARING SOLUTION
ACCORDING TO THE AUTHORITIESList of Names of Three Persons Buried In The Area Is Now Being Compiled; Bones To Be Reburied In An Established Cemetery

The mystery of buried bones discovered during excavation being made in the vicinity of the Levittown housing development, is being cleared up.

Bucks County Coroner Russell J. Ferris and Deputy Coroner Dr. William Goldfarb have announced that the bones were found when workmen unknowingly came upon an unmarked and long-forgotten burial plot.

The bones, found in July, sent officials searching back through the records for possible unmarked burials in Southern Bucks county records and brought speculation on "gang killings" found.

The investigators found that in 1801 a burial plot had been set aside by Joseph Robinson, then owner of the tract of land on which the bones were found.

The bones were sent to Harrisburg for a check by archeologists to determine their age.

Ferris said that the archeological report confirmed the suspicion that the bones came from three different persons and that their age at more than 100 years.

A list of names of three persons who are believed to have been buried in the area has been compiled but identifying the bones would be impossible.

He said the bones will now be buried in an established cemetery. The expenses for reburial in cases of this nature are borne by the person or company who discovers the bones.

600 CHILDREN IN
TWP ON PART TIMEEstimate Is Announced By Walter Miller, Regional Superintendent

ENROLLMENT OF 1746

Six-hundred students of the Bristol township area will attend school on part time sessions. This figure represents an estimate made yesterday by Walter Miller, Regional Superintendent, when he released figures showing a total enrollment for the area of 1746 students, not including the 540 expected to enroll from Levittown.

The total registration figures represents, according to Miller approximately a 30% increase over the enrollment figure last year. The enrollment figure for last year represented an approximately 13% increase over the previous year Miller stated.

All children registering for the elementary grades will register September 4. Secondary students will register September 5. Registration for the primary grades will be at the schools designated above for the areas. Secondary registration is at the Delhaas school.

All schools in the township including Levittown, according to Miller, will begin Monday, September 8.

Registration for the children of Levittown residents will be at the Exhibit Center on Route 13, Thursday, September 4, from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. This registration center applies to students for the elementary grades only. Secondary school students will register at Delhaas High School on the 5th.

Of the total number of 1746 students 139 will attend at Laurel Bend school; 234 at Edgely Primary; 230 at Edgely Intermediate; 107 at Newportville; 300 at Maple Shade; 424 at Croydon school; Trentons Jr. Corps.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Remove Water Restrictions At Yardley

Yardley—Installation and testing of the new booster pumping station of Yardley Water & Power Co. has been completed. The need for restriction on use of lawn sprinkling is over. This is according to announcement made this morning by Marc P. Dowdel, secretary and general manager of the company.

The emergency period lasted for three months, and was said to be due to expansion in the area.

It is further announced that work has been started on the foundation for the new half-million gallon storage tank in Lower Makefield twp., on the Duerr tract near the new Pennsbury consolidated school. The recent steel strike is said to have delayed the promised date of delivery until February.

Jet Commercial Plane Order Hinges On Delivery

London—An order from Eastern Airlines for $68,800,000 worth of British jet commercial planes today hinged on the ability of the manufacturers to deliver at an early date. Col. Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Airlines, said he was ready to order between 30 and 50 Mark 3 airliners—still on the drawing board and scheduled for 1957—but specified that they must be delivered before 1955.

Approve Sewage Systems

Harrisburg—The State Sanitary Water Board today issued permits approving plans for the following sewage systems—

Bucks County—Bristol Township, extension of existing system, and Tullytown Supply Corp., Bristol Township, sewers to connect with Levittown system.

To Report On American-Anglo-Iranian Negotiations

London—Britain's foreign office expects to receive today a report on the renewed Anglo-American-Iranian negotiations which may lead to a break in the deadlocked Iranian oil dispute. The tabloid London Daily Mirror said the U. S. and Britain have reached agreement on a plan which would give Iran American economic aid, Britain compensation for the Abadan Refinery and would get oil flowing again.

Township School Board
Interview Bus Drivers

Bristol township school board interviewed 11 applicants for the position of bus driver for the coming school year, at a meeting in Delhaas High School, Tuesday evening.

Eleven women were also interviewed for the position of janitress at the Laurel Bend and new Edgely schools.

In a further action by the board school attendance areas submitted by Walter Miller, regional superintendent, were approved by the board.

THE JET RACE

Last May British Overseas Airways, the nationalized airline, sent its first civilian jet airliner streaking from London to Johannesburg, South Africa, with several intermediate stops. Since then BOAC has added jet airline service on a route from London to Singapore.

The British had planned to add jet liners to their present runs from New York to Bermuda and Nassau next winter. But further expansion of jet service is being held up pending production of a new plane with more passenger capacity and longer range.

BOAC still holds to its promise of starting transatlantic jet service by 1954. Space aboard the London-South Africa and the London-Singapore flights has been at a premium. Passengers and plane crews alike have been delighted by the effortless, vibrationless rush of traveling by jet power.

It is revealed that the Douglas Aircraft Company may be the first American plane manufacturer to take the plunge into the jet air transport swim. An announcement states that "several months ago" Douglas earmarked $2,000,000 for a design study. A jet airliner may be ready by 1957.

Give Qualifications, Hospital Nominees

committee, represents the community's largest potential industry on the board, has been very active and has rendered valuable service to this hospital organization since its arrival in the area.

Louis Dries, Bristol merchant, vice-president and director Bristol Trust Co., memorial subscriber, Chamber of Commerce, publicly supported hospital since it was organized.

Frank Flatch, Bristol, president Lower Bucks County C. I. O. Council, chairman of United Labor Hospital Committee, member present hospital staff committee, representative of organized labor, has been very active and a strong supporter of the hospital since prior to its organization, was Labor's first active contact with the hospital.

Paul V. Forster, Esq., Bristol, is the hospital's legal representative and attorney, charter committee, chairman by-laws committee.

Mrs. Reba C. Goebig, Croydon, general plant manager, Samuel Jackson Sons, public relations committee chairman, as community chairman for Bristol twp. area organized the largest working unit and had the largest financial returns, continued harmony within hospital organization during testing period, a tribute to administration ability, active member of Bucks County Rescue Squad Auxiliary for 14 years, instructor of first aid, at present directing survey of area for hospital organization, only woman representative on the Board since November creation.

S. D. Hackley, Kaiser Metal Products, Bristol, plant manager, newest member on the board, has had many years experience available in hospital work as instituted by Kaiser, represents the community's second largest potential industry.

James E. Harris, Croydon, assistant manager insurance department, Phila. Electric Co., charter and life member of the organization, present president of the board and organization, accepted office and became very active at a time when many others thought the endeavor would not succeed and would not help.

First vice-president, Charles E. Hunter, president Hunter Mfg. Co., Emilie, assisted corporation committee during fund raising campaign.

Acting secretary, Rene Tritschler, labor representative, justice of the peace, Bristol twp., official of the United Labor Hospital Committee. Treasurer, Harold F. Hunter, charter and life member of the organization, asst. treasurer Farmers National Bank of Bucks County, Bristol, active as treasurer since hospital was organized.

E. L. Helwig, vice-president Rohm & Haas Co., Phila., charter and life member of the organization, director Farmers National Bank, chairman site committee, chairman building committee, active in hospital work since inception.

I. J. Hetherington, Burgess Bristol borough, charter and life member of organization, publicly supported hospital since it was organized.

Mrs. James Hiltner, Lower Makefield twp.-Yardley area, new nominee, has a splendid record of support and activity in behalf of the hospital during fund raising campaign, secretary of Women's Voters League, also active in the Trenton College Club.

Thomas R. James, vice-president Superior Zinc Corp., co-chairman corporation committee during campaign, present chairman of hospital staff committee, well known for civic activities, has been an active worker since hospital was organized.

Alfred Lewis, personnel manager, Manhattan Soap Co., president Bristol borough school board, well known in civic activities, during campaign was chairman of employee division group one.

W. B. McCluer, manager Bristol plant, Rohm & Haas Co., co-chairman corporation committee during campaign, active in the hospital work since its inception, member site and building committee.

Mrs. Robert Sheeran, new nominee, Newtown borough and township area, chairman of this area during the fund raising campaign, in own area is recognized as well qualified, and well known, president, Junior New Century Club, also known for her work with Girl Scouts, Community Center, Red Cross and Salvation Army.

John Spadaccino, labor representative, member local 88 Rohm & Haas, was a worker in the employee division and also a team captain in the community solicitation during the fund raising campaign.

C. Burnley White, F. A. Simons Co., Eddington, president Bensalem Municipal Authority, president Bensalem-Lower Bucks Chamber of Commerce, chaplain Bucks County Rescue Squad, chairman of the memorial subscription committee for fund raising campaign.

The last nominee is Warren A. Jennings.

Although incomplete the above sketch is sufficient to give the hospital organization members a basis upon which to evaluate somewhat the action and judgement of their present and recommended representative for the important ensuing phase of the Lower Bucks County Hospital. The elected board shall have the jurisdiction of the spending of the funds subscribed, donated and invested by all who are supporting the hospital. On the whole it is a good Board. The membership could not afford to hire such a group. Individually, there may and possibly are equally and better qualified persons within the area to represent the hospital invested interests. Being a democratic, community organization, nominations shall be accepted from the membership on the floor during the Sept. 2nd meeting.

Good judgment and common sense dictates that these chairmen of the active committees, building, public relations, staff and finance be retained in order that the important work already in progress be continued uninterrupted.

THE JET RACE

Last May British Overseas Airways, the nationalized airline, sent its first civilian jet airliners streaking from London to Johannesburg, South Africa, with several intermediate stops. Since then BOAC has added jet airline service on a route from London to Singapore.

The British had planned to add jet liners to their present runs from New York to Bermuda and Nassau next winter. But further expansion of jet service is being held up pending production of a new plane with more passenger capacity and longer range.

BOAC still holds to its promise of starting transatlantic jet service by 1954. Space aboard the London-South Africa and the London-Singapore flights has been at a premium. Passengers and plane crews alike have been delighted by the effortless, vibrationless rush of traveling by jet power.

It is revealed that the Douglas Aircraft Company may be the first American plane manufacturer to take the plunge into the jet air transport swim. An announcement states that "several months ago" Douglas earmarked $2,000,000 for a design study. A jet airliner may be ready by 1957.

When the United States takes a country under its wing, Washington begins to pour in an endless stream of dollars. But when Russia takes over opponents either die or travel for their health.

Providence continues to send rains to the just and the unjust, but not in equal measure. The range is from a tenth of an inch to three inches.

Never shout at the children, says a psychologist. And if you did they probably wouldn't be listening.

Some men, a psychologist says, are too lazy to think for themselves. Then why don't they get married.

One-way streets are proposed for pedestrians. What will a man do if his hat blows off?

Crooked rivers and crooked men get that way by following the line of least resistance.

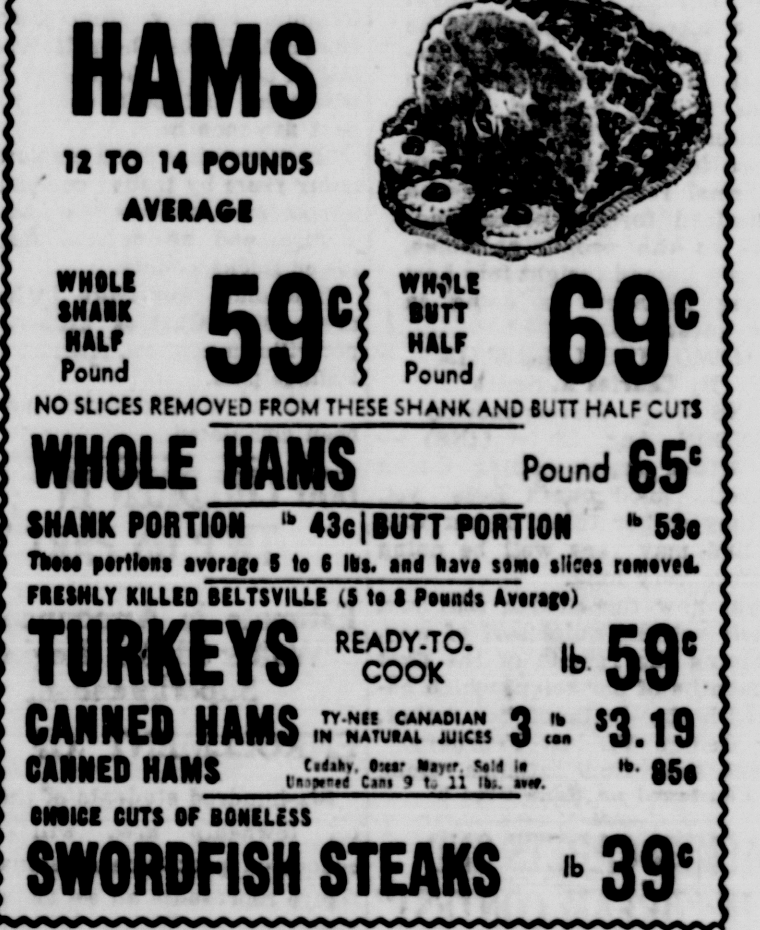

Never was the dollar worth less, nor was it ever chased harder.

Give Qualifications, Hospital Nominees

committee, represents the community's largest potential industry on the board, has been very active and has rendered valuable service to this hospital organization since arrival in the area.
Louis Dries, Bristol merchant, vice-president and director Bristol Trust Co., memorial subscriber, Chamber of Commerce, publicly supported hospital since it was organized.
Frank Flatch, Bristol, president Lower Bucks County C. I. O. Council, chairman of United Labor Hospital Committee, member present hospital staff committee, representative of organized Labor, has been very active and a strong supporter of the hospital since prior to its organization, was Labor's first active contact with the hospital.
Paul V. Forster, Esq., Bristol, is the hospital's legal representative and attorney, charter committee, chairman by-laws committee.
Mrs. Reba C. Goebig, Crofton, general plant manager, Samuel Jackson's Sons, public relations committee chairman, as community chairman for Bristol twp. area organized the largest working unit and had the largest financial returns, continued harmony within hospital organization during testing period, a tribute to administration ability, active member of Bucks County Rescue Squad Auxiliary for 14 years, instructor of first aid, at present directing survey of area for hospital organization, only woman representative on the Board since November creation.
S. D. Hackley, Kaiser Metal Products, Bristol, plant manager, newest member on the board, has had many years experience available in hospital work as instituted by Kaiser, represents the community's second largest potential industry.
James E. Harris, Crofton, assistant manager insurance department, Phila. Electric Co., charter and life member of the organization, present president of the board and organization, accepted office and became very active at a time when many others thought the endeavor would not succeed and would not help.
First vice-president, Charles E. Hunter, president Hunter Mfg. Co., Emille, assisted corporation committee during fund raising campaign.
Acting secretary, Rene Tritschler, labor representative, justice of the peace, Bristol twp., official of the United Labor Hospital Committee.
Treasurer, Harold F. Hunter, charter and life member of the organization, asst. treasurer Farmers National Bank of Bucks County, Bristol, active as treasurer since hospital was organized.
E. L. Helwig, vice-president Rohm & Haas Co., Phila., charter and life member of the organization, director Farmers National Bank, chairman site committee, chairman building committee, active in hospital work since inception.
I. J. Hetherington, burgess Bristol borough, charter and life member of organization, publicly supported hospital since it was organized.

ber of organization, publicly supported hospital since it was organized.
Mrs. James Hiltner, Lower Makefield twp.-Yardley area, new nominee, has a splendid record of support and activity in behalf of the hospital during fund raising campaign, secretary of Women's Voters League, also active in the Trenton College Club.
Thomas R. James, vice-president Superior Zinc Corp., co-chairman corporation committee during campaign, present chairman of hospital staff committee, well known for civic activities, has been an active worker since hospital was organized.
Alfred Lewis, personnel manager, Manhattan Soap Co., president Bristol borough school board, well known in civic activities, during campaign was chairman of employee division group one.
W. B. McCluer, manager Bristol plant, Rohm & Haas Co., co-chairman corporation committee during campaign, active in the hospital work since its inception, member site and building committee.
Mrs. Robert Sheeran, new nominee, Newtown borough and township area, chairman of this area during the fund raising campaign, in own area is recognized as well qualified, and well known, president, Junior New Century Club, also known for her work with Girl Scouts, Community Center, Red Cross and Salvation Army.
John Spadacino, labor representative, member local 88 Rohm & Haas, was a worker in the employee division and also a team captain in the community solicitation during the fund raising campaign.
C. Burnley White, F. A. Simons Co., Eddington, president Bensalem Municipal Authority, president Bensalem-Lower Bucks Chamber of Commerce, chaplain Bucks County Rescue Squad, chairman of the memorial subscription committee for fund raising campaign.
The last nominee is Warren A. Jennings.
Although incomplete the above sketch is sufficient to give the hospital organization members a basis upon which to evaluate somewhat the action and judgement of their present and recommended representative for the important ensuing phase of the Lower Bucks County Hospital. The elected board shall have the jurisdiction of the spending of the funds subscribed, donated and invested by all who are supporting the hospital. On the whole it is a good Board. The membership could not afford to hire such a group. Individually, there may and possibly are equally and better qualified persons within the area to represent the hospital invested interests. Being a democratic, community organization, nominations shall be accepted from the membership on the floor during the Sept. 2nd meeting.
Good judgment and common sense dictates that these chairmen of the active committees, building, public relations, staff and finance be retained in order that the important work already in progress be continued uninterrupted.

Tells of His Life

In Prison Camp

starvation just like flies. From our barrack room we could see the undertakers carry the dead out in the mornings. And some mornings we counted 50, 60, and even 70 corpses.

I once managed to get out to the so-called "graveyard" and watched the grave-diggers shoving the corpses into mass graves, trampling on the bodies to make room for more. None of these grave-diggers was ever released from the camps. So that no one could find out how many people died, they were all deported to the Soviet Union.

All through my imprisonment I heard nothing but lies from the Russian officers. They pretended to be surprised about us, that Americans would be in such a camp. They promised an early release.

And when they separated my son from me in the Buchenwald concentration camp, the Soviet officer told me he was to be released.

John was taken away with 56 others, 14 of them foreigners. I am convinced they were all deported to the Soviet Union. I never heard from him again.

Until February, 1950, I was in Buchenwald—notorious as a concentration camp under the Nazis—where tuberculosis was taking an enormous toll. The sanitary conditions were so poor that the infection spread at great speed. It still gives me a chill to think of the many young people who died there.

Buchenwald, as all other camps, was guarded and supervised by Russians but the administration body consisted of German Communists, some with a record of camp leaders under the Nazis.

In Buchenwald I succeeded in getting hold of the Russian chief physician who had a general's rank. I told him that they simply had no right to keep me, an American, in there. But a Russian sergeant standing nearby told the general to shut up and leave the barracks room immediately. Apparently he was one of these political "shadows." I got four weeks' close arrest for my daring speech.

I had been questioned at various times and knew that the charge held against me was that of having "smuggled cameras into American-occupied Germany. I owned a camera factory in Dresden, but the Russians had sent me on the trip with proper permits.

In spite of all my protests it was only in the Waldheim jail this year that I was "tried." I saw men and women prisoners being taken to the mock trials, chained, and in camp overalls. No trial lasted longer than 15 minutes. Nobody had defense counsel and I don't know of anybody who got less than 15 years imprisonment. Most got 25 years.

In June, this year, I appeared before such a special court. I was sentenced on the old "smuggling" charge, also for being a "member of the monopoly capital" and for "supporting the Nazis." My sentence was seven years, exactly the time I had already served. I believe they just wanted to get rid of me by then.

The German Communist "people's judge" apparently was quite proud of himself, for he told me: "You tell your American friends, when you go to Berlin, that we are strong enough now to dare release even people like you. We don't fear anything."

I was not a Nazi, the charge was derived from the fact I had a factory during the Nazi time.

I am convinced that the Russians ran me in because I had hoisted big American flags on my house, because a lot of American officers came to see me, and because the Russians wanted my camera factory. Now it is nationalized, turning out reparations for the Soviet Union.

(Tomorrow: "... Even the dead were robbed.")

Fingerprints, grease and dirt can be removed from phonograph records if you moisten a piece of absorbent cotton in a weak solution of soap and water and wipe the surface gently. Repeat the treatment with plain water.

Tells of His Life In Prison Camp

starvation just like flies. From our barrack room we could see the undertakers carry the dead out in the mornings. And some mornings we counted 50, 60, and even 70 corpses.

I once managed to get out to the so-called "graveyard" and watched the grave-diggers shoving the corpses into mass graves, trampling on the bodies to make room for more. None of these grave-diggers was ever released from the camps. So that no one could find out how many people died, they were all deported to the Soviet Union.

All through my imprisonment I heard nothing but lies from the Russian officers. They pretended to be surprised about us, that Americans would be in such a camp. They promised an early release.

And when they separated my son from me in the Buchenwald concentration camp, the Soviet officer told me he was to be released.

John was taken away with 56 others, 14 of them foreigners. I am convinced they were all deported to the Soviet Union. I never heard from him again.

Until February, 1950, I was in Buchenwald—notorious as a concentration camp under the Nazis—where tuberculosis was taking an enormous toll. The sanitary conditions were so poor that the infection spread at great speed. It still gives me a chill to think of the many young people who died there. Buchenwald, as all other camps, was guarded and supervised by Russians but the administration body consisted of German Communists, some with a record of camp leaders under the Nazis.

In Buchenwald I succeeded in getting hold of the Russian chief physician who had a general's rank. I told him that they simply had no right to keep me, an American, in there. But a Russian sergeant standing nearby told the general to shut up and leave the barracks room immediately. Apparently he was one of those political "shadow" I got four weeks' close arrest for my daring speech.

I had been questioned at various times and knew that the charge held against me was that of having "smuggled cameras into American-occupied Germany. I owned a camera factory in Dresden, but the Russians had sent me on the trip with proper permits.

In spite of all my protests it was only in the Waldheim jail this year that I was "tried." I saw men and women prisoners being taken to the mock trials, chained, and in camp overalls. No trial lasted longer than 15 minutes. Nobody had defense counsel and I don't know of anybody who got less than 15 years imprisonment. Most got 25 years.

In June, this year, I appeared before such a special court. I was sentenced on the old "smuggling" charge, also for being a "member of the monopoly capital" and for "supporting the Nazis." My sentence was seven years, exactly the time I had already served. I believe they just wanted to get rid of me by then.

The German Communist "peoples judge" apparently was quite proud of himself, for he told me: "You tell your American friends, when you go to Berlin, that we are strong enough now to dare release even people like you. We don't fear anything."

I was not a Nazi, the charge was derived from the fact I had a factory during the Nazi time.

I am convinced that the Russians ran me in because I had hoisted big American flags on my house, because a lot of American officers came to see me, and because the Russians wanted my camera factory. Now it is nationalized, turning out reparations for the Soviet Union.

(Tomorrow: "... Even the dead were robbed.")

Fingerprints, grease and dirt can be removed from phonograph records if you moisten a piece of absorbent cotton in a weak solution of soap and water and wipe the surface gently. Repeat the treatment with plain water.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Addressing the American Legion convention, he said true patriotism meant "putting country before self" and added that he would resist pressure, even from the veterans, in conflict with the public interest. The Democratic Presidential candidate said: "To strike freedom of the mind with the fist of patriotism is an old and ugly subtlety" and added that "patriotism is not the fear of something; it is the love of something."

Later, addressing New Jersey Democrats, he scoffed at the "divided, disunited" Republican party whose candidate, he said, had to "stand on a bush of eels" as a platform. The Liberal party will nominate Governor Stevenson to night, and he will make an acceptance speech. He refused to express a choice for a Senatorial candidate to be picked by the New York State Democratic convention tonight.

General Eisenhower conferred in New York with several advisers and visitors and received a labor leader's pledge of support. John Foster Dulles, explaining the general's policy of liberating captive nations from Soviet rule, as presented to the Legion convention Monday, said peaceful, and not violent, revolution was the essence of the idea.

The Republican National Committee plans to spend up to $2,000,000 for fifteen or twenty radio and television appearances by General Eisenhower.

Companionship

There comes moments into the life of everyone of us when the world seems to pass us by and we are forced to eat the bread of loneliness. The rich and the poor, the mighty and the weak, all have felt at some time or another the piercing pang which comes with the knowledge of being unnoticed, unneeded, or unwanted. The human heart then cries out against the aching pain of loneliness. Its cries can never be completely silenced until it has found the solace and the strength which come from true companionship.

I have found that true companionship in Christ. Morning, noon and night I know that He is with me. Again and again I find myself in earnest conversation, sharing with Him my problems and perplexities, seeking guidance and direction. How could one who lived, suffered and died for me and who has promised to be with me always fail to be my constant companion?

Alone? Lonely? Yes, sometimes it may seem so. But I am never really alone. In Christ I have a true Companion, a Friend that never fails.

Dominick Squillace, Mrs. Frank Sagolla, Mrs. Joseph Boncentre, Mrs. Field and Mrs. Mary Luci.

On Tuesday morning, Melvin Bell, Monroe street, traveled by auto to Weatherly, to bring Mr. and Mrs. James Peltz and Frank and Fred Peltz to visit Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Peltz, of 501 Pond street.

Companionship

There comes moments into the life of everyone of us when the world seems to pass us by and we are forced to eat the bread of loneliness. The rich and the poor, the mighty and the weak, all have felt at some time or another the piercing pang which comes with the knowledge of being unnoticed, unneeded, or unwanted. The human heart then cries out against the aching pain of loneliness. Its cries can never be completely silenced until it has found the solace, and the strength which come from true companionship.

I have found that true companionship in Christ. Morning, noon and night I know that He is with me. Again and again I find myself in earnest conversation, sharing with Him my problems and perplexities, seeking guidance and direction. How could one who lived, suffered and died for me and who has promised to be with me always fail to be my constant companion?

Alone? Lonely? Yes, sometimes it may seem so. But I am never really alone. In Christ I have a true Companion, a Friend that never fails.

AUTO BOYS PUT 3M OUT OF THE PLAYOFF SERIES

Rapping out a total of 17 safe hits, the Auto Boys nine smothered 2M's, 15-6, to eliminate that team from the playoffs of the Bristol Suburban Softball League. The game was played on Memorial Park field before a large crowd.

Auto Boys begins its three-game semi-final series with Kaiser Metal this evening on Memorial field. The second game will be played tomorrow evening.

Of the seventeen Auto Boys wallops, "Chuck" Klein had four and Steve Clotti, Harold Peltz, and Nick Lomma, three each. Klein drove in five runs and scored two while Clotti had three runs batted in and crossed the plate three times.

Lomma pitched steady ball after a shaky start. He allowed five hits and six runs in the first two innings and then pitched scoreless ball, allowing three hits the remainder of the way. Lomma had a perfect night with the stick in hitting three singles and walking one and denting home plate four times.

George Wallace started on the hill for the scotch-tape makers. He was blasted from the hill in the second with a six-run splurge by the Auto Boys team. Amy Lewis relieved him and put out the fire but after the third, Auto Boys hit Lewis all over the lot. Lewis was charged with the defeat.

Wallace made three of the loser's eight hits with two going to Chuck Hinkle. Hinkle played a nice fielding game as did Tony Cauti and Steve Clotti, of Auto Boys.

NAMES ON VESSELS HONOR EMPLOYEES

PORT SULPHUR, La. — (INS) — Veteran employees' names have been given to boats which serve a firm's Louisiana mining operations.

The unique employee relations practice was adopted by the Freeport Sulphur Company to honor employees for long service. Ordinarily, industrial marine units bear names of top officials, but rank in this case is ignored.

Twenty-six employees, from drill crewman to chief engineer, have been cited while on the job. Most of the workers have been with the company 30 or more years.

Freeport operates almost 100 craft of all types in operations accessible only by water. They include passenger boats for transporting workers to mine sites, towboats, drilling barges, dredges, and other vessels.

Three Phone Numbers For Bristol Courier

To accommodate the public, The Bristol Courier now has three outside telephone lines. The public may reach the Courier office by calling any of the following numbers: Bristol 7846, 7847, 8-1457.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

THE broiler-fryer chicken of today is a versatile bird. It can be baked or roasted, braised or stewed as well as fried and broiled. For a delicious braised version, suggests the A & P Service for Homemakers, serve Chicken Paprika with sour cream.

One disjointed fryer that tips the scales three pounds dressed or two and one-fourth pounds ready-to-cook will provide four servings. Remove any pinfeathers, wash and drain. Dredge in four tablespoons of flour mixed with one-half teaspoon of salt. Brown chicken in two tablespoons of hot margarine. Add one teaspoon of salt, one and one-half tablespoons of paprika, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper, one onion chopped, and one-half cup of water. Cover and simmer 30 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove bird to a hot platter and keep hot. Stir one tablespoon of flour into liquid in skillet. Cook two or three minutes stirring constantly. Add one-half cup of sour cream, stirring in quickly and barely heat. Serve at once.

Heated rolls and a mixed green salad with pimientos and capers go well with this dinner for four. To make the salad, prepare two quarts of torn-apart mixed greens, such as lettuce, romaine, escarole, spinach and chloirey. Add two tablespoons capers and two pimientos, sliced. Toss first with three tablespoons of oil, then with two tablespoons of wine vinegar. Add salt and pepper to taste.

MANHATTAN SOAP ENTERS PLAYOFFS

Manhattan Soap entered the playoffs of the Industrial Softball League with a close 4-2 verdict over Philco on the Hunter-Wilson field.

The soap-makers scored their win with a three-run outburst in the fourth. Philco had a 2-0 lead when the Manhattan boys scored three times on a triple, two singles, a walk, an error, and a fielder's choice.

The final run in the seventh was a four-bagger by Rubino who was the winning pitcher.

CROYDON COMETS EVEN SERIES WITH FERGUSONVILLE IX.

The Croydon Comets evened its semi-final playoff series with Fergusonville by scoring a 1-0 triumph last evening on the loser's diamond. The tilt was a twirler's duel between Barner and Pearl.

The lone marker of the tilt was made in the fifth after both boys had pitched scoreless ball. With one away, Coyne and Rudy hit singles. Holtzworth got on via an error to load the bags. Then Moran laid down a "squeeze" bunt, scoring Coyne with the winning run. Rudy also tried to score on the play but was nailed at the plate.

The final game will be played this evening on the Fergusonville diamond.

Lorraine Graffner, 11, Has Birthday Celebration

NEWPORTVILLE, Aug. 27 — A birthday party was given Saturday afternoon in honor of Lorraine Graffner's 11 anniversary. The affair was planned by Lorraine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Graffner.

Decorations were in yellow with favors being small cups of mints and candies. Games were played and prizes awarded. Ice cream, cake, soda was served to: Christina Charlton, Carol Brown, Thelma and Janet Marra and Shirley Graffner, here; Dolores Charlton, Phila.; Arlene Sorensen, Croydon, and David Borne, Bath Addition.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Recent studies indicate that the eye coloring is the important determining factor on a person's susceptibility to sunburn. According to Good Housekeeping magazine, blue-eyed or light-eyed people show a far greater tendency to burn than brown-eyed people, regardless of the color of their hair.

ROHM & HAAS TRIM FIFTH WARD BY SCORE OF 13 TO 7

Rohm & Haas, of the Industrial Softball League, trimmed Fifth Ward Sporting Club, 13-7, last evening on the Rohm & Haas field.

The winners had 14 hits to the Warder's 12. Spencer and Patterson had three hits each for Rohm & Haas while for Fifth Ward, Cauti made three hits.

Fifth Ward started a rally in the final inning when Cordisco opened with a triple and Russo walked. Centenze hit into a fielder's choice and Cordisco went out at the plate in a run-down. Russo and Centenze then mixed things by ending up on second place.

Dan Mulchinnock and Hart did some nice fielding for the winning team.

PLAYOFFS START TONIGHT

At its meeting last evening, the Bristol Boys Baseball League decided to begin its playoff games this evening on Leedom's field, starting at six o'clock. The contesting teams are the Hawks, winners of the second half and the Giants, first half champions. Either Jim Daniels or Joe Bonner will throw them for the Hawks with Binkley behind the plate. Ed Williams will most likely hurl for the Giants with Barkasay doing the catching.

Hans Christian Andersen's story, "The Ugly Duckling," was autobiographical.

AUTO BOYS PUT 3M OUT OF THE PLAYOFF SERIES

Rapping out a total of 17 safe hits, the Auto Boys nine smothered 3M's, 16-6, to eliminate that team from the playoffs of the Bristol Suburban Softball League. The game was played on Memorial Park field before a large crowd.

Auto Boys begins its three-game semi-final series with Kaiser Metal this evening on Memorial field. The second game will be played tomorrow evening.

Of the seventeen Auto Boys wallop, "Chuck" Klein had four and Steve Clott, Harold Peltz, and Nick Lomma, three each. Klein drove in five runs and scored two while Clott had three runs batted in and scored the plate three times.

Lomma pitched steady ball after a shaky start. He allowed five hits and six runs in the first two innings and then pitched scoreless ball, allowing three hits the remainder of the way. Lomma had a perfect night with the stick in hitting three singles and walking one and denting home plate four times.

George Wallace started on the hill for the scotch-tape makers. He was blasted from the hill in the second with a six-run spurge by the Auto Boys team. Amy Lewis relieved him and put out the fire but after the third, Auto Boys hit Lewis all over the lot. Lewis was charged with the defeat.

Wallace made three of the loser's eight hits with two going to Chuck Hinkle. Hinkle played a nice fielding game as did Tony Cauti and Steve Clott, of Auto Boys.

NAMES ON VESSELS HONOR EMPLOYEES

PORT SULPHUR, La. — (INS) — Veteran employees' names have been given to boats which serve a firm's Louisiana mining operations.

The unique employee relations practice was adopted by the Freeport Sulphur Company to honor employees for long service. Ordinarily, industrial marine units bear names of top officials, but rank in this case is ignored.

Twenty-six employees, from drill crewman to chief engineer, have been cited while on the job. Most of the workers have been with the company 30 or more years.

Freeport operates almost 100 craft of all types in operations accessible only by water. They include passenger boats for transporting workers to mine sites, towboats, drilling barges, dredges, and other vessels.

Three Phone Numbers For Bristol Courier

To accommodate the public, The Bristol Courier now has three outside telephone lines.

The public may reach the Courier office by calling any of the following numbers: Bristol 7846, 7847, 8-1457.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

THE broiler-fryer chicken of today is a versatile bird. It can be baked or roasted, braised or stewed as well as fried and broiled. For a delicious braised version, suggests the A & P Service for Homemakers, serve Chicken Paprika with sour cream.

One dainty fryer that tips the scales three pounds dressed or two and one-fourth pounds ready-to-cook will provide four servings. Remove any pinfeathers, wash and drain. Dredge in four tablespoons of flour mixed with one-half teaspoon of salt. Brown chicken in two tablespoons of hot margarine. Add one teaspoon of salt, one and one-half tablespoons of paprika, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper, one onion chopped, and one-half cup of water. Cover and simmer 30 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove bird to a hot platter and keep hot. Stir one tablespoon of flour into liquid in skillet. Cook two or three minutes stirring constantly. Add one-half cup of sour cream, stirring in quickly and barely heat. Serve at once.

Heated rolls and a mixed green salad with pimientos and capers go well with this dinner for four. To make the salad, prepare two quarts of torn-apart mixed greens, such as lettuce, romaine, escarole, spinach and chervil. Add two tablespoons capers and two pimientos, sliced. Toss first with three tablespoons of oil, then with two tablespoons of wine vinegar. Add salt and pepper to taste.

MANHATTAN SOAP ENTERS PLAYOFFS

Manhattan Soap entered the playoffs of the Industrial Softball League with a close 4-2 verdict over Philco on the Hunter-Wilson field.

The soap-makers scored their win with a three-run outburst in the fourth. Philco had a 2-0 lead when the Manhattan boys scored three times on a triple, two singles, a walk, an error, and a fielder's choice.

The final run in the seventh was a four-bagger by Rubino who was the winning pitcher.

CROYDON COMETS EVEN SERIES WITH FERGUSONVILLE IX.

The Croydon Comets evened its semi-final playoff series with Fergusonville by scoring a 1-0 triumph last evening on the loser's diamond. The tilt was a twirler's duel between Barner and Pearl.

The lone marker of the tilt was made in the fifth after both boys had pitched scoreless ball. With one away, Coyne and Rudy hit singles. Holtzworth got on via an error to load the bags. Then Moran laid down a "squeeze" bunt, scoring Coyne with the winning run. Rudy also tried to score on the play but was nailed at the plate.

The final game will be played this evening on the Fergusonville diamond.

Lorraine Graffner, 11, Has Birthday Celebration

NEWPORTVILLE, Aug. 27 — A birthday party was given Saturday afternoon in honor of Lorraine Graffner's 11 anniversary. The affair was planned by Lorraine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Graffner.

Decorations were in yellow with favors being small cups of mints and candies. Games were played and prizes awarded. Ice cream, cake, soda was served to: Christina Charlton, Carol Brown, Thelma and Janet Marra and Shirley Graffner, here; Dolores Charlton, Phila; Arlene Sorensen, Croydon, and David Borne, Bath Addition.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Recent studies indicate that the eye coloring is the important determining factor on a person's susceptibility to sunburn. According to Good Housekeeping magazine, blue-eyed or light-eyed people show a far greater tendency to burn than brown-eyed people, regardless of the color of their hair.

SECRET AGENT X9

ROHM & HAAS TRIM FIFTH WARD BY SCORE OF 13 TO 7

Rohm & Haas, of the Industrial Softball League, trimmed Fifth Ward Sporting Club, 13-7, last evening on the Rohm & Haas field.

The winners had 14 hits to the Warder's 12. Spencer and Patterson had three hits each for Rohm & Haas while for Fifth Ward, Cauti made three hits.

Fifth Ward started a rally in the final inning when Cordisco opened with a triple and Russo walked. Centonze hit into a fielder's choice and Cordisco went out at the plate in a run-down. Russo and Centonze then mixed things by ending up on second place.

Dan Mulchinock and Hart did some nice fielding for the winning team.

PLAYOFFS START TONIGHT

At its meeting last evening, the Bristol Boys Baseball League decided to begin its playoff games this evening on Leedom's field, starting at six o'clock. The contesting teams are the Hawks, winners of the second half and the Giants, first half champions. Either Jim Daniels or Joe Bonner will throw them for the Hawks with Binkley behind the plate. Ed Williams will most likely hurl for the Giants with Barkasy doing the catching.

Hans Christian Andersen's story, "The Ugly Duckling," was autobiographical.

FOR BETTER LIVING

STYLE-WISE

By Phyllis Battelle
(INS Woman's Editor)
NEW YORK — (INS) — The winter coat, generally a woman's biggest wardrobe investment, will this year have a waistline to match its price tag—each of them marked lower.
The price is an almost insignificant drop-down, but the very fact that it isn't rising makes it newsworthy.

Middle Slump
The waistline, on the other hand, will be lowered to near the hipline on most high-fashion coats, a slump of three to six inches from the normal middle.
This most outstanding of several winter coats trends is a direct result of the return of the "middy look" of the 1920's, the look regarded by the top designers to be the foremost silhouette of winter, 1923-53. Only the response of American women will tell whether it will continue to be high fashion in 1954.
Another new silhouette not to be disregarded in shopping for cold weather finery is the "tulip line," which was previewed rather unsuccessfully in stylish circles last year under the name, "trumpet."
It is shaped rather like a trumpet blasting downwards — with a moulded line from shoulder to just above the thighs, and godets, box-pleats or flares spreading out from there to the mid-calf hemline.
The fitted coat is coming back, not so much in the better coat departments, but in the budget stores. And they're distinctive in their way because, in contrast to the low-waisted looks of the middy and tulip-styles, the fitted models have a rising waistline effect.
In the smartest winter coats, there's a choice of two drastically different necklines: either wide mantle and cape collars, or no collars at all.
The sleeves on most of the newest coats are wide, either at the top or down toward the cuff. The very latest approved styles are sleeves which widen at the cuff and then turn back slightly to revealing a contrasting lining.
Leg o' mutton sleeves are back too, on fitted coats. And three-quarter length sleeves, meant to be worn with long gloves or mammoth mitts, are as good fashion as they were last year when it seemed as if every top designer claimed to have originated them as a trend.

In contrast to last year's winter coats, buttons will lose importance along with other forms of spangle trimming — making way for the revival of fur collars, cuffs, and pockets. Not in a decade have fur-trimmed coats been offered to the American woman in such variety and abundance.

KITCHEN CLUES

By Olga Curtis
(INS Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK — (INS) — Housewives are often told to get rid of unnecessary clutter in the kitchen and to throw away duplicate gadgets and surplus utensils.
This is both good and bad advice. Streamlining the equipment generally makes the job easier. But when it comes to kitchen tools, duplicate gadgets and extra pots sometimes save time and work instead of being in the way.
No matter how streamlined you like things to be, always consider convenience in the kitchen. It may be easier to have the same item duplicated in three different places than to have just one item and carry it around to all three points.

Measuring cups and extra spoons are a good example of duplicated items that help instead of hinder. Since you should have your utensils and supplies in easy reach of the place you use them, there's nothing wrong with having a cup and spoon at the sink, another cup and spoon at your stove, and a third set in the place where you do your mixing and food preparation.
The rule to follow, of course, is that of necessity. If you need the same gadgets in two places to make your work easier, by all means have duplicates. But if the gadget is used only at one place, and then infrequently, you certainly don't need three of the same.

It's also a good idea to have staple supplies handy wherever you need them in your kitchen.
Supplies like salt, sugar, flour, seasonings, some cereals, and may-be cooking fat are used both in your mixing area and at the stove. So you should have them on hand at both places to save trips back and forth. You might keep your larger supplies at the mixing center and smaller containers on the stove or near it.

If they ever take a popularity poll of vegetables, green peas probably will get the prize.
Green peas are not in first place in canned goods. That honor goes to tomatoes which show up in catsup, sauce, pulp, puree and juice. But green peas are the second most popular canned vegetables — and in frozen foods, where tomatoes don't compete, green peas lead the field.
According to statistics from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, we each ate six and one-quarter pounds of canned and frozen green peas in 1950. Preliminary figures for 1951 indicate that per capita average went up. A record 195 million pounds of green peas were frozen last year and the 1951 canned pea pack was 17 per cent above the 1950 pack.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.
Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. ## FOR BETTER LIVING

STYLE-WISE

By Phyllis Battelle
(INS Woman's Editor)

NEW YORK — (INS) — The winter coat, generally a woman's biggest wardrobe investment, will this year have a waistline to match its price tag—each of them marked lower.

The price is an almost insignificant drop-down, but the very fact that it isn't rising makes it newsworthy.

Middle Slump

The waistline, on the other hand, will be lowered to near the hipline on most high-fashion coats, a slump of three to six inches from the normal middle.

This most outstanding of several winter coats trends is a direct result of the return of the "middy look" of the 1920's, the look regarded by the top designers to be the foremost silhouette of winter, 1952-53. Only the response of American women will tell whether it will continue to be high fashion in 1954.

Another new silhouette not to be disregarded in shopping for cold weather finery is the "tulip line," which was previewed rather unsuccessfully in stylish circles last year under the name, "trumpet."

It is shaped rather like a trumpet flaring downwards — with a moulded line from shoulder to just above the thighs, and godets, box-pleats or flares spreading out from there to the mid-calf hemline.

The fitted coat is coming back, not so much in the better coat departments, but in the budget stores. And they're distinctive in their way because, in contrast to the low-waisted looks of the middy and tulip-styles, the fitted models have a rising waistline effect.

In the smartest winter coats, there's a choice of two drastically different necklines: either wide mantle and cape collars, or no collars at all.

The sleeves on most of the new coats are wide, either at the top or down toward the cuff. The very latest approved styles are sleeves which widen at the cuff and then turn back slightly to revealing a contrasting lining.

Leg o' mutton sleeves are back too, on fitted coats. And three-quarter length sleeves, meant to be worn with long gloves or mammoth mitts, are as good fashion as they were last year when it seemed as if every top designer claimed to have originated them as a trend.

In contrast to last year's winter coats, buttons will lose importance along with other forms of spangle trimming — making way for the revival of fur collars, cuffs, and pockets. Not in a decade have fur-trimmed coats been offered to the American woman in such variety and abundance.

KITCHEN CLUES

By Olga Curtis
(INS Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK — (INS) — Housewives are often told to get rid of unnecessary clutter in the kitchen and to throw away duplicate gadgets and surplus utensils.

This is both good and bad advice. Streamlining the equipment generally makes the job easier. But when it comes to kitchen tools, duplicate gadgets and extra pots sometimes save time and work instead of being in the way.

No matter how streamlined you like things to be, always consider convenience in the kitchen. It may be easier to have the same item duplicated in three different places than to have just one item and carry it around to all three points.

Measuring cups and extra spoons are a good example of duplicated items that help instead of hinder. Since you should have your utensils and supplies in easy reach of the place you use them, there's nothing wrong with having a cup and spoon at the sink, another cup and spoon at your stove, and a third set in the place where you do your mixing and food preparation.

The rule to follow, of course, is that of necessity. If you need the same gadgets in two places to make your work easier, by all means have duplicates. But if the gadget is used only at one place, and then infrequently, you certainly don't need three of the same.

It's also a good idea to have staple supplies handy wherever you need them in your kitchen.

Supplies like salt, sugar, flour, seasonings, some cereals, and may-be cooking fat are used both in your mixing area and at the stove. So you should have them on hand at both places to save trips back and forth. You might keep your larger supplies at the mixing cener and smaller containers on the stove or near it.

If they ever take a popularity poll of vegetables, green peas probably will get the prize.

Green peas are not in first place in canned goods. That honor goes to tomatoes which show up in catsup, sauce, pulp, puree and juice. But green peas are the second most popular canned vegetables — and in frozen foods, where tomatoes don't compete, green peas lead the field.

According to statistics from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, we each ate six and one-quarter pounds of canned and frozen green peas in 1950. Preliminary figures for 1951 indicate that per capita average went up. A record 195 million pounds of green peas were frozen last year and the 1951 canned pea pack was 17 per cent above the 1950 pack.

NEWPORTVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. George Winch, Edgington, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bowker motored to Lake Wallenpaupack Friday evening to spend the week-end; with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hahnemann, Phila., joining them for the week-end.

On Monday, the following group enjoyed a day's outing at the summer home of Mrs. Raymond Given, Beach Haven, N. J.: Mrs. Walter Gillette, Mrs. William Clifton, Mrs. Ella Munchback, Mrs. Harry Back-house, Sr., Mrs. George Erny, Mrs. John Lowrie, Mrs. Clifford Ingraham, Mrs. C. Melvin Johnson, this area; Mrs. Leora Gillette, Woodlyn, and Mrs. Walter Dyer, Phila.

Donald Munchback, a member of the senior corps of Riley Raiders

Drum and Bugle Corps, Phila., is attending the American Legion convention in New York. That group won the national championship on Monday.

Gunpowder is made of sulphur, charcoal and saltpeter.

ATTRACTIVE NURSERY
ADDS TO HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rosener
Have Individualized The Playroom for Son
ADDED MUCH TO ROOM

By Staff Reporter
LEVITTOWN, Aug. 28 — To provide an attractive atmosphere for their three-month-old son, Andy, Joan and Alfred Rosener, 36 South Lane, have furnished one of their two bedrooms as a nursery.

Just to make a nursery out of a room is no novelty, but the Roseners have individualized theirs, in color usage and furniture. Scattered around on the walls are life-size linoleum cut-outs of a cat, three ducks, a dog and a doghouse with baby's name over it.

The furniture includes a large drum for toys, a maple bed, a yellow bathinette, a maple chest of drawers with raised ducks decals, a maple rocker for "mother" to nurse the baby, a baby rocker, a baby-size end table, and a set of scales.

The clothes closet even looks baby-size because the rung for the hangers is lower than usual in the adult closets. All of the hangers, colored in blue, are shaped like swans.

The draperies on the windows are an exclusive pattern known as "pioneer pathways," originated by Associated American Artists. The design is sold exclusively in Trenton, N. J., by Faber's. The owners of the Faber shop are also Levittown residents and are friends of the Roseners.

On the maple dresser is sitting an unusual wood-carved clock, half of which is timepiece and half of which is a scene behind glass, showing a cowboy on a bucking horse. This part lights at night and serves as a lamp for the nursery.

A wastebasket covered with a quilted material comprised of large colored dots matches the bed cover and a shoe hanger.

The Roseners are very enthusiastic about their nursery because they are willing "to get all out" for young Andy, their pride and joy.

month-old son, Andrew. They have lived in Rome, N. Y., and Maplewood, N. J., but they recently came here from Trenton, N. J., where Rosener is a process development engineer with the John Roebbling Corporation. He holds an engineering degree from Lehigh University.

Mrs. Rosener is a graduate of Upsala College, East Orange, N. J. She majored in child psychology and is now able to put some of her training into practice with young Andy.

In the small area off the living room the Roseners have put their television set. They have made an extra room out of the utility area by making a laundry room and pantry. The interesting feature about the house is the nursery, which is described in detail in the adjoining column.

When questioned about their hobbies, Mrs. Rosener replied they are "Andy", the house and the garden.

Elizabeth Reigns Almost In Style of 'Good Queen Bess'

They appear confident that Elizabeth will be a "good" queen in the British tradition of democratic monarchy.

Those who "couldn't really see" how a girl-queen could satisfactorily handle the tough job of sovereignty have been confounded. Those who believed that Britain would come under the influence of a "petticoat court" likewise have been shown to be wrong.

The royal job has in fact continued to be handled in the old, traditional manner. There have been no serious breaks with the strict protocol which governs the behavior of the British monarch. The slight changes brought about to date have been painless, well handled, and have helped further to democratize the monarchy and bring the monarch nearer the people.

Elizabeth's most trying test is yet to come, when she is crowned in June of next year in Westminster Abbey. Privately, she is known to be viewing it with great trepidation, for it is something which even her doughty grandfather, King George V, solemnly recorded in his personal diary as his "most terrible ordeal."

But those around Elizabeth know that she will face up to it, and will go through with the Abbey ceremony as proudly and confidently as she has handled other less vital public appearances these past few months.

For she already satisfactorily has passed through several public ceremonies which for her are equally important stages in her job of selling herself not only to the younger element, which unreservedly is hers, but to the old-timers in and around the court, not to mention the very vocal left wing element.

This writer was fortunate enough last month to receive the Queen's "command," transmitted through the Lord Chamberlain on the customary large, boldly engraved palace card, to attend Elizabeth's first formal party in the grounds of her London home.

They felt ill-at-ease before the prolonged stares of from three to five thousand people, the bobbing and curtseying of the women, the bows of the men, the necessity to find the right polite phrase for each of several hundred individuals presented to them and, above all, what her grandfather once described as the "clammy handshakes" of hundreds of perspiring people.

This writer, with memories of the awkwardness with which her father King George VI had handled himself at his first palace party, felt that Elizabeth might stand or fall on her behavior that hot English mid-summer afternoon.

As she came through the wide doors of the bow room, down the terrace steps and onto the great lawn of the palace garden, some four-thousand necks craned toward her. Four thousand pairs of eyes took in every detail of her outfit, every move of her body. And a great rustle spread over the lawn as many hundreds of old-timers observed the etiquette of the occasion by bowing toward her.

Elizabeth stood it like a veteran of many years of experience instead of a new young queen. Only the slight motion of her hand toward the matched pearls around her neck, the clasping and unclasping of her hands, betrayed the inner worry of someone who realized: "This is it."

The military band crashed out the melody of the national anthem, elegantly, and with controlled poise, the queen led her retinue onto the lawn and began the task of meeting those who by tradition and custom are "presented" at such parties.

The crush around her as she formed her own "royal circle" was worse than any subway rush hour. Aristocratic elbows pushed and shoved. Beautifully gowned women bearing some of Britain's proudest names got up front by methods seldom seem outside of a bargain sale. There were "oohs" and "ahs" of delight, frank comments about Elizabeth's appearance, her tiny figure, her complexion, her gown—and all within a few feet of where she stood, just a little bewildered by it all.

Elizabeth took up her stand in the center of the ring, and the member of the court gradually got those who were supposed to be presented sorted out from the other milling around her.

Presentations, officially timed to occupy a few seconds, at first tended to last more than that time, and it was obvious Elizabeth didn't quite have the necessary firmness to keep the affair under the strict control that's necessary.

There were male bores who held onto her hand for seconds longer than prescribed, women who stared fascinated at her, mumbled something or other, and who looked like sticking there in front of her all afternoon—until a court official came to Elizabeth's rescue and gently led them away.

Gradually, however, Elizabeth caught on. Graciously but firmly she exchanged a brief handshake, a half dozen words, and then made the slight but obvious turn aside to greet the next person awaiting her.

She was human enough, when she went into the royal tea tent, to lean back in her chair, lift her feet off the ground to rest them, dab at her face with her handkerchief. She did not go as far as her sister Margaret, who unconcernedly got out her lipstick and powder and repaired her make-up.

When it was all over, Elizabeth in a sidelong glance she gave her husband Prince Philip and her sister Margaret, asked the obvious question: "How did I do?" This writer says she did all right.

A bottle called a "fifth" is four-fifths of a quart or one-fifth of a gallon.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1952,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. Point 10 of the official Communist manifesto written by Marx and Engels demands control of education of all children in public schools.

This has been accomplished in Russia. Textbooks have been rewritten, Stalin deified and the superiority of the state over the individual has been drilled into the heads of Russian teachers and students.

Russian children, of course, have never heard of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. This may be to their advantage. So far only American schoolchildren are targets of the international organization's immense propaganda campaign in the U. S.

In its formative stage in 1946 UNESCO held a conference in Paris. Senator William Benton, then Assistant Secretary of State, headed the American Commission. He had as his assistants Chester Bowles, now U. S. Ambassador to India; Milton S. Eisenhower, then president of Kansas State College, and others. A report on the 1946 UNESCO session states:

"The United States delegation will also press for a conference to rewrite the world's textbooks, so that old, ultra-nationalistic misunderstandings would not be passed on to school kids; international exchange of students, teachers, artists, scientists; international agreements to end restrictive copyrights, censorship, etc.; a study of the cause of national misunderstandings; a worldwide war against illiteracy."

As one of UNESCO's godfathers, Senator Benton helped establish the international organization's pattern of behavior. He did not, apparently, envision a nationwide propaganda campaign on UNESCO's behalf in this country. In 1946, in Philadelphia, Benton delivered an address entitled "A New Instrument in U. S. Foreign Policy." He could hardly wait to launch UNESCO right into Premier Stalin's lap. He said:

"Premier Stalin gave the world some interesting words last week—Alexander Werth, a British correspondent, asked Stalin what in his opinion could help in the establishment of friendly relations between the Soviet Union and Great Britain. Here was Stalin's reply: 'I really believe in the possibility of friendly relations between the Soviet Union and Great Britain. Establishment of such relations would be appreciably helped by strengthening political, trade, and cultural relations between these countries.'"

At this point Benton really got warmed up:

"I am greatly encouraged that Premier Stalin goes on record that he desires to strengthen cultural relations with Great Britain. And my hope is that implicit in his statement there is the idea that he wants to strengthen cultural relations with the United States. The State Department advocates a program of exchange of students, professors, technicians and specialists with the Soviet Union. We have been informed, however, that the physical conditions of life in the Soviet Union, and the present lack of facilities, make it difficult for the Soviet Union to provide for the welfare of American students. I very much hope that we may be able soon to persuade the Soviet government to extend to American students the same facilities which are now beginning to be provided for foreign students from the Soviet Union's Slavic neighbors."

Benton was frustrated. Stalin didn't bite. He snubbed UNESCO and its international do-gooders. But UNESCO didn't falter. It merely shifted base, into South and Central America, India, southeast Asia, the Middle East, China, the Philippines, Thailand and Afghanistan.

UNESCO seminars were held in foreign countries. In 1948, UNESCO members met in Podobrad, Czechoslovakia to discuss the education of children between 3 and 13; in 1949, in Quitandinha, Brazil and Mysore, India on illiteracy and adult education in Asia; in 1950, in Kreuzstein, Austria on adult education, and in Brussels, Belgium, on the improvement of textbooks, particularly history books.

With practically all the foreign lands in the world alerted to the benefits of UNESCO, Benton sought greener pastures in the United States Senate. His voice has yet to be raised in objection to UNESCO's spending taxpayers' money propagandizing U. S. schoolchildren on the glories of routing illiteracy in Afghanistan.

SCHOOL ZONE SIGNS WILL SOON BE ALIVE

Motorists Advised to Start
Obeying Them at Once
Before Schools Open

MUST PAY ATTENTION

"School Zone" signs will be alive again soon!

That reminder was offered to all motorists yesterday by John Armstrong, Manager of the Doylestown Division of Keystone Automobile Club, as he appealed for co-operation in protecting children against traffic accidents when they begin their annual trek back to classrooms early in September.

"Now is the time to begin paying attention to 'School Zone' signs," he declared. "They'll be alive again soon following the summer-long vacation period when they were disregarded. All of us again must become used to observing the signs and begin practicing caution in such areas. By doing so now, this practice will have become a good safety habit when the school opens.

"Paying strict attention to these signs becomes even more vital when one realizes that thousands of children will be attending school for the first time this Fall. These youngsters have not had the benefit of safety instruction in the classrooms and in their behalf we appeal directly to those who drive. To a very great extent, the safety of these first-year pupils will depend upon the care with which cars are operated, not only in the vicinity of schools, but on all streets where children are walking to and from their classrooms.

"Keystone also wishes to stress the importance of motorists co-operating with School Safety Patrols. These boys and girls are doing a splendid job in helping prevent accidents, but their efforts will be hampered considerably without complete co-operation from all those behind the wheel."

EMILIE

The Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Boyer arrived Tuesday from St. Petersburg, Fla., to spend several weeks with friends here and parts of lower Bucks county. They are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Carlen, Langhorne, R. D. The Boyers are en route to Congo Belge, West Africa.

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS

Mrs. John Whyte fell through a trap-door at her home and badly injured her legs.

HULMEVILLE

A motor trip over the Skyline Drive in Virginia, and a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schriener at Farmville, Va., was concluded on Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Holzworth, Dorothy May Holzworth and "Betty" Bilger.

FARMERS SOLVES COW'S PROBLEM

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., (INS)—Anyone who's ever been kissed by a cow knows that bovine tongue is a very rough instrument, indeed. Like a file.

But even so, a cow's tongue can, and often does, get sore from the roughness of the ordinary wooden manger. That was happening on a farm near here, and milk production from a herd of unhappy Holsteins was slumping seriously until the farmer took a clue from the fellow who was modernizing his kitchen. He installed managers of slick clay tile, like in his farmhouse breakfast nook, and reported that it not only makes his milk producers mouth-happy once more, with resulting revival of production, but also greatly simplified the cleaning and maintenance chores in the manger.

SCHOOL ZONE SIGNS WILL SOON BE ALIVE

Motorists Advised to Start Obeying Them at Once Before Schools Open

MUST PAY ATTENTION

"School Zone" signs will be alive again soon!

That reminder was offered to all motorists yesterday by John Armstrong, Manager of the Doylestown Division of Keystone Automobile Club, as he appealed for co-operation in protecting children against traffic accidents when they begin their annual trek back to classrooms early in September.

"Now is the time to begin paying attention to 'School Zone' signs," he declared. "They'll be alive again soon following the summer-long vacation period when they were disregarded. All of us again must become used to observing the signs and begin practicing caution in such areas. By doing so now, this practice will have become a good safety habit when the school opens.

"Paying strict attention to these signs becomes even more vital when one realizes that thousands of children will be attending school for the first time this Fall. These youngsters have not had the benefit of safety instruction in the classrooms and in their behalf we appeal directly to those who drive. To a very great extent, the safety of these first-year pupils will depend upon the care with which cars are operated, not only in the vicinity of schools, but on all streets where children are walking to and from their classrooms.

"Keystone also wishes to stress the importance of motorists co-operating with School Safety Patrols. These boys and girls are doing a splendid job in helping prevent accidents, but their efforts will be hampered considerably without complete co-operation from all those behind the wheel."

EMILIE

The Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Boyer arrived Tuesday from St. Petersburg, Fla., to spend several weeks with friends here and parts of lower Bucks county. They are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Carlen, Langhorne, R. D. The Boyers are en route to Congo Beige, West Africa.

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS

Mrs. John Whyte fell through a trap-door at her home and badly injured her legs.

HULMEVILLE

A motor trip over the Skyline Drive in Virginia, and a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schriener at Farmville, Va., was concluded on Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Holzworth, Dorothy May Holzworth and "Betty" Bilger.

FARMERS SOLVES COW'S PROBLEM

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (INS)—Anyone who's ever been kissed by a cow knows that bovine tongue is a very rough instrument, indeed. Like a file.

But even so, a cow's tongue can, and often does, get sore from the roughness of the ordinary wooden manger. That was happening on a farm near here, and milk production from a herd of unhappy Holsteins was slumping seriously until the farmer took a clue from the fellow who was modernizing his kitchen.

He installed managers of slick clay tile, like in his farmhouse breakfast nook, and reported that it not only makes his milk-producers mouth-happy once more, with resulting revival of production, but also greatly simplified the cleaning and maintenance chores in the manger.

that warms all the room

The Heatilator Fireplace circulates abundant warmth to far corners. Saves heat wasted by ordinary fireplaces. This hollow steel heating chamber is concealed in the masonry where it draws cool air from floor level, heats it, and returns it to the room. Proved in homes and camps everywhere.

WILL NOT SMOKE

The scientific Heatilator eliminates common causes of smoking. Saves weeks of fuel mantel design. Saves labor and materials.
